FEATURED BOOK

Italy's Eighteenth Century: Gender and Culture in the Age of the Grand Tour

Paula Findlen, Wendy Wassyng Roworth, and Catherine M. Sama

In the age of the Grand Tour, foreigners flocked to Italy to gawk at its ruins and paintings, enjoy its salons and cafés, attend the opera, and revel in their own discovery of its past, but they also marveled at the people they saw, both male and female. In an era in which castrati were “rock stars,” men served women as ciccisbei, and dandified Englishmen became macaroni, Italy was perceived to be a place where men became women. The great publicity surrounding female poets, journalists, artists, anatomists, and scientists, and the visible roles for such women in salons, academies ... Read more

At the top, there are navigation links: About, What's New, Partner Presses, Subscriber Services, Contact Us, Take a Tour, Help. A search bar is located on the right with a search icon and a link to 'Advanced Search'. Below the search bar is a 'Browse by Subject' menu with a dropdown arrow, showing 'My entries (0)' and 'My searches (0)'. The subject carousel is set to 'History' and displays three book covers: 'Gordian Knot' by Ryan M. Irwin, 'Dance Research' by Richard Ralph, and 'Parenting in England 1760-1830' by Joanne Bailey. Below the carousel, a message states 'You are looking at 1-10 of 2,012 items for: History' with a 'Clear All' link. A 'Download complete list of books in this History Collection (.pdf) (.xls) RSS' button is visible. The search results section shows a list of filters on the left, including 'University Presses' with counts for various publishers. The main results area shows two book entries: '1895: Drama, Disaster and Disgrace in Late Victorian Britain' by Nicholas Freeman and 'A Gentleman and an Officer': A Military and Social History of James B. Griffin's Civil War' by James B. Griffin. The interface includes a page number 'Page: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 ... 201 202' and a footer with 'Index', 'About the Index', 'Show related links', and 'Search across all sources in Oxford Index'.

U.S. Policy toward Latin America since 1959

How Exceptional Is Cuba?

Lars Schoultz
DOI:10.5744/florida/9780813040233.003.0002

[-] Abstract and Keywords

This chapter explains the ways in which U.S. policy toward revolutionary Cuba has differed from its policy toward the rest of Latin America. Washington's refusal to recognize the government of Cuba has far exceeded the distance it maintains with other revolutionary or enemy states. Whereas the United States recognized the Soviet Union sixteen years after the Bolshevik seizure of power and recognized the People's Republic of China twenty-two years after 1949, the level of hostility toward Havana has been such that the United States refrains from normal diplomatic relations to this day and has spent most of the past five decades trying to overthrow the island's government. There is no situation even

Bayesian Smoothing and Regression for Longitudinal, Spatial and Event History Data

Ludwig Fahrmeir and Thomas Kneib

ABSTRACT

Several recent advances in smoothing and semiparametric regression are presented in this book from a unifying, Bayesian perspective. Simulation-based full Bayesian Markov chain Monte Carlo (MCMC) inference, as well as empirical Bayes procedures closely related to penalized likelihood estimation and mixed models, are considered here. Throughout, the focus is on semiparametric regression and smoothing based on basis expansions of unknown functions and effects in combination with smoothness priors for the basis coefficients. Beginning with a review of basic methods for smoothing and mixed models, ...
